Use your left arm to represent the complex plane, with your left shoulder representing the origin. For each complex number or operation given to you by your instructor, move your arm so that it points to the appropriate complex number.
The prompts are deliberately not given here, as they are best given one-by-one during class. A summary of the prompts appears in the solution.