Write one representation of a vector. The class as a whole should try to generate as many representations as possible.