1 Word counting

Download a text file (probably ending with `.txt`) that holds the works of Shakespeare, or any other voluminous text. Then write a python program that reads this file and prints 15 most frequent words, along with their frequency (as a percentage of all words).